

PUT ON YOUR BEST FACE

One sign of a good organization is its ability to keep a solid base of long term members while reaching out to the public through shows and demonstrations that educate them about the benefits of becoming a member. The Tidewater Turners has experienced continued success in its goal of recruiting new members. The number of members at this point in time is north of 120.

The problem of putting a name with a face during a well attended meeting or function has been solved by issuing nametags. However, there are other times when you may be in a conversation with a member talking about another member whose face you can't recall. This will usually leave you wanting to find out whom that person is.

The board members have decided to devote a portion of its new web gallery to a picture album of its membership. We are hopeful that we can use a school annual type format, which is just the picture, the name and with individual consent, if appropriate, a club title.

We will begin taking member pictures at the July meeting. We will continue that effort at every opportunity, until we have everyone in the album. If you wish, you can e-mail your picture and name to any one of the following board members:

Dwight Bullock, Matt Lewis, Ray Kallman

Our hope is that once the album is completed, newer members will become more comfortable and familiar with longer standing club members. This should help foster the exchange of new and old ideas. After all, this is one of the clubs foremost goals.
